

Two Gas Mains Being Laid Here

A new four-inch main is being laid in St. Louis avenue and in the alley in the rear of Sciarra Cleaners which will supply natural gas to new boiler equipment now being installed by Sciarra's.

James A. Walsh, Seymour district superintendent of Indiana Gas and Water Company, said a new main is scheduled for construction in South Lynn street, along U. S. 50 east from Freeman Field to serve the new Indiana Telephone Corporation building.

The two projects will consume seven working days. The McGuire Pipeline Construction Company of Columbus is contractor for both jobs at a total estimated cost of $6,800.
